Understanding, collaboration and peace

16 July 2015 at 1000 for 1030 at the House of Lords, Committee Room 4a

If you would like to join us for the presentations and discussion, please:

RSVP: Dr Roger Prentis on rap@partmast.com (click to e-mail)

Places are extremely limited and will be allocated on a "first come, first served" basis. A security "ticket" will be issued to those attending - entry to Committee Room 4a is via Cromwell Green entrance.

2015 is the 70th anniversary of the nuclear bombing of Hiroshima. Conflict still pervades many areas of the world and affects us all. The situation in Ukraine, IS and terrorist atrocities continue to feature on the news alongside anachronistic power politics.

We are honoured and privileged to offer you an extremely special opportunity to join us in the House of Lords to hear first-hand testimony from Ms Yoshiko Kajimoto, a survivor of the Hiroshima nuclear bomb.

Kajimoto -san will tell us of her experiences via a live Skype link to Hiroshima and has kindly agreed to take questions.

Through our regular discussion meetings in the House we aim to stimulate discussion and encourage understanding and collaboration to achieve positive, meaningful change through enlightened thinking and action.

Attendance at this event is by special invitation and it is critical that you RSVP as soon as possible to secure a place. Places are very limited and we will work on a 'first come, first served' basis.

We will also be delighted to have a small exhibition of paintings done by girls from the Hiroshima Girls Middle School just three years after the bombing in 1948. This is with the kind permission of Mike Stevenson who has been guardian of these important and insightful paintings and in association with the Daiwa Foundation.

On the day we will also be launching a Social Media campaign relating to peace that we are running with our Partners, the Hiroshima Culture Peace Foundation and Mayors for Peace. Of course, we will be requesting your support and help to 'spread the word' to make the campaign a success.
